Firemen All Set For Barbecue

Picnic and Barbecue Will be One of The Most Elaborate Ever Given and It Is Expected At Least 1,000 Will Attend

Hip, hip, hurrah, we're on our way to the barbecue next Sunday!

Seven hundred tickets had been sold by noon Tuesday to the big firemen's barbecue to be held at Indian Village this very next Sunday, September 3. And, if you haven't bought your ticket yet, you can get it at Staniford's or at the booth on the Corner of Ocean and Dolores.

And are they going to have some program, these firemen. They are going to start off at ten o'clock with a ball game between the youngsters from the Mangan-ite club families and a nine from the firemen families, and at eleven o'clock the big barbecue begins.

Here's a big surprise, but don't tell we told it: Instead of a piece of tenderloin right off the neck, everybody there will get a juicy sirloin, cooked to just the right degree by a chef who knows his barbecue. And with this steak you'll get potato salad, Spanish beans and a lot of other good stuff. You'll really get a 75 cent dinner and all the fun and entertainment will be thrown in.

Leave dull care at home Sunday and go with your mind made up to enter into the spirit of the games and you'll be so glad you went.

You may not want to join in the hunt for the half-dollars when ten youngsters will try to get with their teeth a half-dollar laid in the bottom of a pan and generously covered with syrup, but you'll want to see the contestants. When he gets the money it's his to keep, and the first to get his, gets an additional dollar.

There'll be sack races, egg races and all kinds of sports, not forgetting the bingo contest.

Here's another big surprise: The Veterans of Foreign Wars band will be there, and will they make music!

Well, you just can't afford to miss the barbecue Sunday, for there's a lot of things we really are keeping secret.

Bob Dalton, Carmel Lad, Fought to Draw

Although he was outweighed 18 pounds, young Bob Dalton, 17, fought Young Ossining to a draw at the Elks' Boxing club at Monterey Monday night. Bob weighed 117 and Ossining 135. The boys fought 6 rounds.

Young Dalton has had a very successful campaign, being still undefeated after 23 fights, and securing 13 one-round knockouts.

Bob will not fight again until next vacation as he will enter Monterey Union high this fall for his second year.

Filipino s In Court Over Free-for-All

Albert Legaspe, Filipino, was the cause of a lot of excitement in the employes' quarters at Pine Inn Tuesday afternoon when he went in to take a final poke at three of his countrymen.

Legaspe who had been employed by the Pine Inn for some time, was discharged because he was thought to have a disturbing influence on other employes.

Philip de Jesums, one of his victims, swore to a complaint, charging him with assault. Legaspe escaped but Chief of Police Gus England is confident he will be apprehended shortly.

Lindstroms to Move To San Jose Home

Mrs. Melvin Lindstrom and daughter, Barbara, who had been visiting Mrs. Edith Smith in her home on Monte Verde for two weeks, will join Mr. Lindstrom Sunday in San Jose where he has made new business connections. The Lindstroms made many friends in Carmel during their six years' residence here.

Former Editor's Wife Leaves for Shanghai

Mrs. Joe Coughlin and two children will leave September 15 to join her husband in Shanghai, China, where he is connected with the Shanghai Post-Mercury, an evening American newspaper. Mr. Coughlin, owner of the late Carmelite newspaper left here some months ago to re-establish himself in Shanghai where he and his family lived some years before coming to Carmel. He has been with the American daily since his return there.

Mrs. Catherine Lillie of San Francisco is taking her vacation in her cottage at Ninth and Canaveva.

Carol Eberta Veazie Will Read Again

Noel Coward's "Design for Living" is the most talked of play of the year, and since Mrs. Carol Eberta Veazie's successful reading of "Alice Gets," the requests for a reading of it have been very insistent.

The Denny-Watrous Gallery is happy to announce that it has been able to arrange for a reading of Mr. Coward's play on this next Saturday evening, September 2, at 8:30 o'clock.

As Mrs. Veazie leaves almost immediately to resume her New York activities on the staff of the Neighborhood Playhouse, this will be the last opportunity to hear her.

"Design for Living" is a comedy in three acts which deals brilliantly, satirically and adroitly of "love among artists." How Leo, Otto and Gilda all love one another and the tangle their loves get them into is handled with such wit, flashes of giddy brilliant repartee that the auditor is in a constant state of delighted laughter.

Coward's treatment of the loves of Gilda, Leo and Otto is satirical as well as clever, for underneath all the charming froth is slaying satire of the situations.

O'Shea Paintings at Del Monte Gallery

The series of one-man shows which have been conducted at Hotel Del Monte will be brought to a close by an exhibition of the work of John O'Shea of the Highlands, which will open tomorrow and continue for one month.

Although Mr. O'Shea held an exhibit at Denny-Watrous some time ago, he has promised to have an entirely new lot, never before shown on the Peninsula. Undoubtedly many Carmel people will go to see this popular artist's pictures.

Mrs. Stearns Hostess To Friends Sunday

Mrs. Gwendolyn Stearns, entertained Sunday evening at her home, the Jo Mora house in Carmel Woods. Some of her guests were: Helen Wolsey, Marion Kingsland, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Dixon, Earl and Marguerite Moll, Pauline Meeks, Kathryn Lisi, Mrs. Lee Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Doolittle, Don Lewis, Windsor Jones-lyn, Ross Kienitz, Ralph Lindsay and Abram Weiss.

Sonia Noskowiak Exhibit in Gallery

On Saturday afternoon, the Denny-Watrous gallery announces the opening of an exhibit of photographs by Sonia Noskowiak. Miss Noskowiak has for the last three years studied photography with Edward Weston, and so decided a gift has she shown for it that at the present time her work is being shown in three exhibits throughout the state.

Miss Noskowiak's prints have been shown during the last year at the De Young Museum, San Francisco, in the Los Angeles Museum, in the San Diego Museum, and received very favorable mention. This will be her first "one-man" show.

Dr. and Mrs. Eddy, pioneer residents of Carmel, visited here Monday. They now live in St. Helena.

Henrietta Shore Has New Book of Art

The leaves have just been cut on a book showing paintings, drawings and lithographs of Henrietta Shore, world-known artist, who lives in Carmel.

Merle Armitage, who published the book of Edward Weston's photographs before Christmas of last year, and who will bring out Jean Charlot's book, is responsible for the publication of Miss Shore's book.

Edward Weston took the photographs from which the reproductions are made.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Spence, who have spent nearly a year in Carmel, have left for their home in the north part of the state. Mr. Spence was with the construction company on the new highway.

Visiting Artist Has Narrow Escape in Fall

Jean Charlot, visiting Mexican painter, narrowly escaped death at Point Lobos one day last week when a rock gave way with him on the side of a steep cliff. He fell some distance down the side followed by a shower or rocks but fortunately escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

Charlot was going to the help of Henrietta Shore, local artist, who had been lost for some hours and was unable to get back up the cliff to join the rest of the party which included Zoma Day and Sonya Noskowiak and Edward Weston. Miss Day brought help from the gate who helped Miss Shore and Charlot to safety.

The party went to Point Lobos to work; Miss Noskowiak and Mr. Weston with cameras and Miss Shore and Mr. Charlot to sketch.

Carmel Visitor Makes Dirty Cracks

The following taken from Variety of August 15, sets forth what one visitor thought of our town and may give you a laugh:

Carmel-by-the-Sea, home of the artist (seascape painters, mostly) and the intelligentsia, the place where Sister Aimee did a St. Francis by hiking on the waves to Mexico, the Utopia where everyone is carefree and careless Bohemian and broke, and where Young Pioneers (juvenile communists) make nasty faces at Uncle Sam's Boy Scouts—is still a hick burg, after all.

Here live Lincoln Steffens and his divorced wife, Ella Winter; they're the bait held out to literati tourists, but actually are shunned by most of the natives because of their opinions. Nearby on Carmel Heights is the pile of stone monstrosity known as Flavin's spitting out the window into the Pacific creates much world messages as his play 'Amaco' given its world premiere by the Golden Bough players last week.

Despite the glamour and hoopla of such names and deeds, Carmel can't even pull its sidewalks in at nine o'clock because there are none. Although natives claim they're strictly on the level as Bohemians and aren't working for filthy lucre, the town has two banks with vere-de-vere clerks who sport winged collars and don't get to work until 10:30 a.m., knocking off at three p.m.

A recent visitor couldn't get a $20 bill changed anywhere in the burg, because natives were afraid he was a counterfeiter. Finally one of the banks broke it, but only after a thorough investigation of the visitor, his morals, character, etc.

Runaround Bus

Town is full of rackets, best one being by the franchised bus company which takes visitors 50c a head. There the passenger says "How do I get to such and such a place?" It should be named the Runaround Bus Company, but isn't.

Another racket is the town's garbage collecting, which is farmed out to two factions. One collector advertises extensively in the weekly publication, claiming "garbage neatly collected."

Shops are strictly for chumps, raising the ante for anyone wearing a clean collar and a hair cut.

Nearly every one of the famous painters who clutter up the burg maintains his or her home as a boarding house and willingly accepts any guest who looks like he might have a dime. If he has two dimes, they try to sell him their paintings.

Another racket is the famed 17-Mile Drive, which is in reality but eight miles and which at a charge of 50c permits motorists to clatter down many dusty roads, all of which eventually lead into the swank Hotel Del Monte where maybe they'll register as guests.

ground, Carmel is thoroughly Hollywoodized, having more gas stations and real estate offices to the square block than there are Bohemians.

Citizens to Pledge Loyalty to NRA

Although the 1930 census, which is used as a basis for population, shows that Carmel does not really come under the NRA regulations for towns of 2500 or more, Carmel's citizenry is rallying almost to a man to the ranks of the President's depression-routing army.

Pledge cards and stickers are being given out to the homes and pledges obtained form all Carmel folk that they will trade with those who belong to the NRA.

If, by chance, you have been missed in this campaign, you may obtain your pledge and stickers from the postoffice.

Word comes from the east that improvement can already be felt there and for the first time since 1929 people are beginning to see a silver lining to the black cloud which has hung so low.

Carmel Sun is an active member of the organization, having joined with the other printers of the district in forming a code and attempting to carry out the N. R. A. orders. The office is closed all day every Saturday, the help receiving the same wage for the five day week as previously paid for the six. Although this is added expense for Carmel Sun, we are glad to join in as only concerted action will route the depression.

Carmel people will become more and more "blue eagle" conscious as time passes and those who "slack" in this movement will be put in the same category with slackers during the world war.

Music Society Closes Season

Winter Series Will Begin Next January With An Exceptionaly Fine Program and Many of The World's Best Artists

Playing brilliantly, the Penha Piano Quartet, with its two guest violinists, Mafalda Guaraldi and Cicely Edmonds, made its final appearance in the seventh and last concert of the summer series presented by the Carmel Music Society at Sunset Tuesday night.

The program opened with Quartet K 478 of Mozart, for piano, violin, viola and cello. The three beautuiful movements were vigorously applauded.

Abraham Weiss played the second number, Reger's Suite Op. 131 for the viola alone. Those who have heard him with the quartet have appreciated the fact that Weiss is a fine musician, but his remarkable artistry and musicianship in this solo number came as a surprise to many. He played with exquisite feeling and verve, and at the conclusion of his performance received ovation after ovation.

Chausson's Concerto for the piano, violin and string quartet, in which the two visiting artists played, concluded the program. The artists took many bows but no encore was given.

Carmel music lovers must thank the Music Society for the untiring efforts of its working members. To give a series such as has been heard here this summer requires a great deal of thought and time.

The artists themselves deserve much praise for they have given their best.

Michel Penha has entered into the life of the community and the people here would miss him very much were he to leave.

The Music society is meeting tonight to determine the future course of the organization. If you are not a member, it would encourage them greatly if you should stop in at the Denny-Watrous gallery today and take out a membership.

The winter series will probably begin about January first.

Mrs. Vera Peck Millis Will Re-open Home

Mrs. Vera Peck Millis and her children, Bill, Ann and Jane returned last week by motor from a trip to the Fair in Chicago. They have taken a cottage on Casanova until the first of September when their house on San Antonio ants. Friends of the Millis' who were accustomed to tennis on the Millis courts will welcome the chance to play there again.

Local Shopkeepers Attend City Gift Show

Mrs. Jasmine Rockwell, Mrs. E. Englesby and Mrs. Bertha Hopkins of the Jasmine Bush attended the gift show in San Francisco last week and purchased many pretty things for their shop. They report having seen many clever gifts, some new to them and some not. They did not forget the men and purchased some lovely sets of brushes for them. The Jasmine Bush has recently had a toy department, beginning with a nice lot of boats for the youngsters.

Local Man Fined for Careless Parking

John Neikirk paid his two-dollar fine like a gentleman Wednesday for over-parking on Dolores street. Judge Wood stated that the city didn't particularly want Neikirk's two dollars, but that it was the men who owned places of business on Dolores, like Neikirk, who had asked for the parking limit.

Mr. and Mrs. James Fitz Gerald who have been spending the summer in the Carmel Valley with Mrs. Fitz Gerald's mother, Mrs. Stella Stafford Mather, will return the first of September to their studio home in the Monte Regio tract. James Fitz Gerald is one of the well-known local artists who works in water colors. He has recently forsaken his real love, the sea, for landscapes. His pictures may be seen at Tilly Polak's.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd G. Cullen of Ventura were week-end guests of Kenneth Wood at The Hearth. The Cullens have just returned from Honolulu where Mr. Cullen was assistant manager of the Shell Oil company in the Hawaiian Islands for the past three years.

Cockburns Return Home After Nice Vacation

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Cockburn and daughter, Eva, have returned home from a most delightful vacation spent in Canada. They first went to Penask Lake and spent a month at a fishing lodge, and from there to Victoria for a month. A nephew, Teddy Wilson of Victoria, came home with them to spend a month in Carmel.

Picnic Crowd Sees Deer at Arroya Seca

When a crowd of Carmel folk were on a picnic last Sunday at Arroya Seca they saw 25 deer, but not a single buck among them. They had spent the day picnicking at the government's reforestation camp about 70 miles from here and saw the deer as they were driving home in the evening.

Those in the picnic party were George Wishart and family, Ben Wetzel and wife and their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Miller of San Francisco.

Zoning Hearing Is Postponed One Month

In accordance with a request from property owners in the Big Sur territory, a hearing of the protests on the proposed zoning ordinance was postponed for another month by the Monterey County planning commission, at its meeting Tuesday in Salinas.

According to John H. Thomsen, attorney for the land owners, they wish to work out their own zoning restrictions to present to the commission.

Fire Still Rages In Indian Valley

With about 5,000 acres burned over, the fire in Indian Valley is pushing on toward the headwaters of Big Creek and is now about 75 miles south of Carmel.

The country is accessible only by trail, making it difficult to get supplies in to the men who are fighting, who include 500 men of the C.C.C.

The fire has been raging for ten days.

Bridge Tournament Enjoyed by Many

One of the most enjoyable of the series of bridge tournaments conducted by Mrs. Marie Van Atta was that given at the Monterey Peninsula club last Thursday afternoon.

High scores were made by Mrs. John D. MacWillie, Mrs. A. S. Bowen, Mrs. Henry Brownell and Mrs. Ray Brownell.

Sunset School Opens Tuesday

About Four Hundred Pupils Expected to Enroll. Carmel Children are Eager to Begin New Term in State's Most Remarkable School

Sunset School will open its doors to approximately four hundred children this coming Tuesday morning. The summer vacation of rest and play will retuurn the children eager and joyous to take up the varied activities offered by the Sunset School.

There will be very slight changes in the school program, and the policy of giving a sound training in the fundamental subjects, according to Principal O. W. Bardarson. An outlet for initiative through the medium of Citizenship Studies, and an appreciation of art and music will prevail.

Miss Altrea Kendall of Los Angeles will be the only new member of the teaching staff. Miss Blanche Heninger will be the new cafeteria supervisor.

Numerous improvements have been affected during the summer months and pupils will find attractive classrooms and accommodations awaiting them on their arrival.

Principal Bardarson wishes to urge the parents to accompany children who are entering the primary grades for the first time.

In speaking with a Carmel Sun reporter, Mr. Bardarson said,

"The program for the coming year will be outlined in bulletins to beissued to parents shortly after the opening of school. We are looking forward to a year marked by high scholastic accomplishment and replete with interesting student organization activies.

Teaching Staff

Following are the members of the teaching staff of Sunset School:

Mr. Otto W. Bardarson, principal.

Mrs. Anna Kohner, kindergarten.

Mrs. Lillie C. Trowbridge, first grade.

Miss Marion Ohm, first and second grade combination.

Mrs. Edna C. Lockwood, second grade.

Mrs. Bernita Ninneman, third grade.

Mrs. Frances Farley, fourth grade.

Mrs. Mae Montmorency, fifth grade.

Miss Althea Kendall, overflow class.

Mrs. Frances Johnson, sixth grade and departmental.

Miss Anna Marie Baer, seventh grade and departmental.

Mr. Roy J. Gale, eighth grade and departmental.

Miss Elinor Smith, nature study (part time teacher.)

Miss Medeline Currey, music and orchestra.

Mr. Ernest Calley, shop and clay.

Mr. Stanton Hamilton and Mr. Floyd Harber will continue as janitors and custodians.

Cafeteria Receives Needed Attention

Miss Blanche Heninger of Santa Barbara, new supervisor of the cafeteria at Sunset, is expected to arrive soon. She will be accompanied by her mother.

A gas stove has been installed in the cafeteria, some new dishes purchased and fresh paint used where most effective, thus dolling the cafeteria all up ready to serve the children when school opens.

Miss Heninger will live in the Gaylor cottage in Eighty Acres.

Repairs Are Being Made on Building

In compliance with the state architect's report made as a result of an examination of the buildings here, some repairs have been made at Sunset to assure the safety of the children should there be an earthquake in this section.

Whitcomb and Bain are making the tiles secure on the main building, and Hugh Comstock's men are making some changes in the kindergarten.

Flag Needed for School Auditorium

The flag used in the auditorium of Sunset School is a very small one and seems inadequate in comparison to the other furnishings, according to members of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War. They consequently decided to do something about it and are setting out to get donations for a new silk flag.

Judge Wood heads the list of contributors and has kindly consented to be custodian of the fund until the necessary amount has been raised.

You will probably be solicited by some member of the organization for a small donation. No large ampunt will be required of anyone, since a suitable flag may be purchased for less than $15, including staff and standard, with an eagle for the top of the staff.

AN ARTICLE FOR SCHOOL GIRLS AND BOYS

This is written with only one purpose in view and that is to guard your health and show you the way. With a little care you will be able to avoid all the diseases which children in schools are apt to contract through carelessness and often through ignorance. Germs were not known when your parents were school boys and girls, hence it was impossible in those days to use the most common precautions which the children of today can take without even discommoding them.

You'll be brighter, learn more and keep in better health if your teacher will keep the windows of the schoolroom open. Bad air makes a sluggish brain.

"Do unto others as you would have others do unto you"—meaning: Don't carry disease germs to school and cause sickness and perhaps death among your playmates. If you have a contagious disease at home, keep entirely away from all other children. Stay at home if you have a sore throat.

"Skiddoo" from the boy or girl with a "little sore throat." Many "little sore throats" are really diphtheria.

Keep that pencil out of your mouth—it may have scarlet fever, diphtheria or typhoid fever germs on it.

Swapping gum, apples or candy are about the dirtiest things—and the most dangerous things—that a child ca ndo. Don't b edirty.

Keep your hands clean. Soap is a good friend—dirt is your worst enemy.

Eat very little candy—treat your stomach well and you'll live longer.

Never buy candy or fruit at an open stand on the street. Flies have left all kinds of dirt on it, and dirt from the street has been blown upon it.

When you play, play out of doors—but never play in dusty places. Dust is full of tuberculosis, pneumonia and other germs.

Don't run to school—especially just after eating. Start in time so that you will not have to run.

Be well and you'll be happy—even in school.—San Francisco News.

"The Drunkard" under direction of Galt Bell, recent popular Community Playhouse director, is going over with a dynamic bang at the Theatre Mart in Hollywood according to all reports from the southland.

Preston Shobe, one time Carmelite and business manager for the Community Players, in the same capacity for The Drunkard company, told Los Angeles newspaper men last week that from present indications the play might run a year.

Galt Bell wrote friends here that the play started on its eighth week last Monday playing to good houses. "We have no thought at present of changing plays," he said.

Just Anything

By Just Anybody

Daisy Bostick, although busy as the proverbial bee, paused long enough to tell of several incidents that had come under her observation. One was rather a joke on herself.

It seems that once upon a time she was trying to rent a house to a would-be writer. She first showed him the Spadoni house, originally owned by Redfern Mason, I believe. At any rate, this young man stood about first on one foot and then on the other, looking and looking, but saying never a word. Finally, more to get some sort of movement from him than anything else, Daisy said, "You know you really should take this house. Jack London used to sit by that fireplace."

The young man seemed duly impressed, although he deferred a definite answer. Later on, probably several days, he came again. Daisy had been exceedingly busy and had almost forgotten about showing him the other house. This time, she showed him the residence of Grace Hamilton on Camino Real. The same thing was repeated here, the young man standing about apparently admiring but not uttering a word. Being extremely busy, Daisy sought to hasten the laggard, so she remarked, forgetting the previous occasion: "You know, you really should like this house. Jack London has sat before that fireplace many a time.

"Indeed," exclaimed the bewildered young man, "I thought you said he had been at the other house you showed me."

Inwardly flustered, but quickly as a flash, our Daisy made answer "Well, he was." He's been at both places. He knew all the old timers here.

Now, as far as Daisy knew when she spoke, well, she had to do something—let us say that a poetic license is included with a realtor's license. This was an exercise of that privilege. At least, she thought it was. But the funny part of it is that Jack London actually had been in both houses.

The other incident she related was some years ago when she had occasion to sign the water bill for that same Spadoni house. She filled it out: "Fastina Spadoni, care of Daisy, Bostick." For months that bill came to her made out: 'Laustina Spagetti, care D. Bosticle."

Speaking of getting names and addresses mixed, it seems that once Helen Ware ordered some furniture or carpet or some such thing, and it was addressed to Mrs. Burt Bentoaks. Her name being Mrs. Burt, and her house's Bent Oaks.

However, such is life in Carmel and . . . elsewhere.

Miss Ruby Fraley, a player on the Abalone league, has enrolled in the dental college of U. C. L. A. for a two-year course in dental hygiene. Miss Fraley has been employed in Dr. Brownell's office for some time.
